Malanka delights crowd with colorful traditions

By Vicki Brooker
Review Staff

Elk Point brought in the Ukrainian New Year with traditional foods, songs and dances at a gala celebration Saturday evening at Elk Point Elementary School, hosted by Elk Point Metelytsia Ukrainian Dance Club.

"The Ukrainian culture is blessed with many wonderful traditions, which have survived despite years of oppression," master of ceremonies Marshall Kachmar told the crowd.

The evening was highlighted by the annual reenactment of the story of Malanka, a beautiful young maiden stolen from her parents by Old Man Winter and rescued by a brave young cossack so that the world might once again have spring.

St. Paul Ukrainian Cultural Choir entertained with traditional songs of the season both before and after dinner, and added two more numbers later in the evening.

Dance club members showed their skills in five numbers, beginning with a Bukovinian medley choreographed and performed by Taylor Cochrane and Leigha Bishop. Group 2 dancers stepped lively through the Mini Hopak, while Group 3A danced a lively number from the Poltava region. Group 3B entranced the audience with the beautiful and graceful Shawl Dance, while Group 4 swirled their way around the stage in the most-loved dance of the Ukraine, the Hopak.

Kachmar set the scene for the Malanka presentation, telling the audience of the old Ukrainian tradition, where the beautiful young woman visits homes on New Year's eve. "She is always welcome, because her visit means she is bringing spring to the land."

The presentation was directed by Daileen Maennchen, Kathy Warholik and Sandy Bishop, and starred Andrea Lee as Malanka and Laryssa Cochrane as Vasyl, her Prince Charming, who had rescued her from Old Man Winter.

Malanka and Vasyl were accompanied on their New Year's eve visits by Baba and Gido (Kailyn Nazarchuk and Marissa Bader), who according to Kachmar were "the most cherished people, and a symbol of good fortune." Also following along were three special animals, a magical dancing goat (Justyne Wozniak), a jolly, happy, tumbling bear (Kelsey Lindquist), and a strong, prancing horse (Taylor Cochrane).

Not all the New Year's visitors were so welcome. Group 2 beginners Ashton Ewasiuk, Madison MacDonald, Colin Nazarchuk, Savanah Plaska and Kendra Warholik portrayed a bevy of little red devils, while Beth Warholik was the silent and spooky Death figure, Elizabeth Orr and Andrea Bader were dishonest peddlers, and Katie Maennchen, Leigha Bishop, Seanna Ewasiuk and Lindsay MacDonald were the teasing, fortune-telling gypsies.

Policemen Robyn Maennchen and Kelsey Vinge arrived just in time to straighten everyone out, and priest Ashley Wozniak scattered holy water and blessings over all.

Community Foundation gets go-ahead

By Vicki Brooker
Review Staff

Elk Point Town Council approved the terms of reference and constitution of the Elk Point Community Foundation, and decided who will represent the Town on the foundation.

Councillor Thomas Kondla will represent council, councillor Dwayne Yaremkevich the recreation committee and town manager Myron Goyan the town administration.

The fledgling foundation hopes to raise money and establish a fund which will eventually take over the role of the emergency grant program now in place, and will not get any funding from the Town. Instead, as a charitable organization, the foundation will accept donations, as well as spearheading fundraising activities.

One proposed fundraiser would be to build a house on a lot donated by the Town, with local businesses and individuals donating at least part of the materials and labor. The house could either be sold or raffled, with proceeds going to the foundation.

Goyan says it's a "win-win situation for the Town to give the foundation a lot," because the completed house will then generate taxes .

Town supports mud bog event

Town council voted to give support in principle to the Elk Point Firefighters Association , who want to bring a major mud bog race event to town this summer, but who have had problems acquiring a site for the event. There is still hope that the Agricultural Society will approve use of a site at the fairgrounds, but if not, the Town may be able to offer an alternative site. The mud bog racing circuit draws excellent crowds to the towns they visit, and the firefighters hoped to use the event as a major fundraiser toward replacing the rescue van with a larger service vehicle.

Relationship on an upswing

Council was given copies of ambulance and firefighting agreements with the County of St. Paul, which will be the focus of upcoming meetings with County council. A third meeting with the County is also planned, and Mayor Parrish Tung says the Town's relationship with the County is "on an upswing."

Take Choosewell challenge

The Town of Elk Point is registering for Aspen Health's Community Choosewell Challenge, which aims to promote an increasingly healthy lifestyle for residents of all ages. Better nutrition and more physical activity are part of the challenge. Council appointed councillors Alvina Schuhmacher and Dennis Jasinsky to represent the Town on Elk Point's challenge committee.

Beyond pancakes: Chamber crew plans tsunami relief dinner

By Vicki Brooker
Review Staff

It's not just about pancakes anymore.

The crew that plans and carries out the annual Canada Day pancake breakfast on behalf of the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce is rallying their troops to extend a helping hand abroad in the wake of the December 26 earthquake and tsunami.

The group is canvassing Chamber members this week to assist their effort by providing donations of food, decorations and funding for their "From the Heart" Valentine's dinner and jamboree, planned for Saturday, February 12 at the Seniors Recreation Centre.

"If we can get everything for the event donated, we can send all the money from our ticket sales to the Red Cross for tsunami relief," organizer Sherry Milholland says. "People are probably going out for a Valentine's dinner anyway. This way they can help others in the process."

Volunteer entertainers are also needed, and can phone Milholland at 724-2562 to put their name on the program.

The organizers decided to maximize attendance by offering two options. Advance tickets will provide purchasers with a full course dinner and the evening of entertainment, while admission for those wishing to attend only the jamboree will be collected at the door.

Celebration for all ages

Malanka

Dance Club secretary Sandy Bishop was pleased to see "a great crowd" turn out to help celebrate the traditions of the Ukraine. She recognized Bill and Olga Seniuk, who as host and hostess, had greeted everyone at the door, and Patsy Zarowny, who rallied a crew of high school students to help her create the braided Kolache that adorned each table. Cassy Cochrane was in charge of music for the show, standing in for instructor Cheryl Robertson who was at Glendon's Malanka celebration.

All dancers joined in a Kolomaika to wind up the show.

Chamber meets tomorrow

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce meets tomorrow evening at 6 p.m. at the Empress.

RCMP Sgt. Brian Quist will attend the meeting to discuss a perceived problem with drugs among Elk Point youth.

REACH Corporation representative Dick Millar and Town manager Myron Goyan will also be on hand to introduce the new Community Foundation.

Eight's not enough

doug BASSETT
Review Sports

Eight is enough! Hardly, unless you're talking about a TV show. The Midget Girls Storm traveled to the Border city early Saturday morning to take on the Lloyd-minster Co-op with only eight skaters in the lineup, and a few of them with only three or four hours sleep after attending the Slipknot concert Friday night in Edmonton. The outcome wasn't too bad, considering. Elyse Anton Roberts got the only goal for the Storm, losing this one 4 to 1.

On Sunday the Storm had a much better game, and a few more skaters in the lineup, the Storm winning at home against Bonnyville 6 to 2. Elyse Anton Roberts and Karly Shankowski with two each, Catherine "the Great" Campbell and Sarah Proskiw getting singles, Tellia Loughran, Ashley Holowaychuk, and Natalie Maas all on the score sheet with assists. Next Friday night the North Central League All-star game will be held in Viking. Brett Hahn, Catherine Campbell, Karly Shankowski, Tellia Loughran and goalie Amber Axley have all been selected to play.

A wild one for the Atom Avalanche on Sunday in Pierceland. The Avalanche started the game strong taking an early lead, then the wheels fell off the cart in the second period, in the third period the Avalanche pulling it together again, but it was too little too late. Four goals for Brandon "the Roadrunner" Rainey, Wyatt "Mad dog" Dewan with two, Trevor "the Kid" Ballas with a single in a losing battle. This coming weekend the Avalanche are in Glendon on Saturday and travel to Lac La Biche on Sunday.

The Novice Hurricanes had a 13-to-7 win on Saturday at home against the visiting team from Vermilion. Rylan Buffalo racked up his first hat trick of the year, the rest contributed by Ryley "the Coyote" Wozniak with five goals, Beaudon Rogers with four and an assist, and Kelsey Vinge with a goal. And some great work on defense, taking the puck off the opposition, by first year player Chelsea Botting. This team is really improving week by week, don't believe me, come on down and see for yourself this weekend. The Hurricanes are hosting a five team tournament this coming Saturday at the Dome.

And now for the K. A. Campbell's quote of the week "Sheppard skates slower than a tax refund." Last week's answer to - "The Boston Gardens is a zoo. The fans are maniacal and the rink is downright grubby. Without question it is the worst rink in the NHL. It's old and shabby, and always looks as if it could use another coat of paint and at least two more vacuum cleanings." - ex-New York Ranger, Brad Park. Do you have any scoops? Incentive funding could help find community solutions to family violence

By Vicki Brooker
Review Staff

FCSS director Deanna Easthope told last week's meeting of the Community Advisory Policing Committee that she feels the recently announced community incentive funding for the prevention of family violence and bullying could help to bring about a community based solution to these problems.

Family violence "is uncomfortable to talk about, but it does exist," she said. "It's out there."

Up to $10,000 is available to finance such activities as educational seminars on family violence, bullying and related topics.

Town councillor Thomas Kondla, who sits on the FCSS board, said he had attended an interesting session at the FCSS conference and felt it would be worthwhile for the Chamber and FCSS to host a drug education seminar.

RCMP Sgt. Brian Quist, who has been invited to this week's Chamber of Commerce meeting to discuss possible drug problems involving youth in the community, noted that the community may have an even bigger problem with alcohol use. Drugs and alcohol are both seen as contributing factors in incidents of family violence, he noted.

Sgt. Quist said the detachment has had numerous requests for the DARE program, but with detachment staff already stretched thin, there is virtually no time to take the required training and to carry out the 17-session program. He also mentioned a program on bullying prevention which has been developed in BC, and which would be "shorter, and easier to put on."

Easthope said both the drug education and bullying programs "could tie in" to family violence prevention, and be part of "a community solution."

Every Canadian loves a challenge, right?

On average, each Canadian produces five tonnes of greenhouse gases a year. Driving, heating and cooling our homes, using appliances…almost anything we do that uses fossil fuels for energy also creates greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions. And these emissions are causing our climate to change.

Take the One-Tonne Challenge – reduce your energy use and your GHG emissions by 20%, or one tonne. You'll save money, and help to protect our climate and our air quality.

Traditions kept alive and strong

Congratulations to the Elk Point Ukrainian Dance Club for once again reinforcing the memories of Ukrainian culture within our minds and hearts.

People of many cultures settled this land, and became part of the cultural mosaic of Canada. Over the years and generations, many of these people let the traditions of their homelands slip away. The clothes they wore for special occasions were folded away in dust-covered trunks, the songs and stories of home faded into oblivion as the older generation passed away. Celebrations from the homeland were forgotten in the labor of building new homes and new lives.

Not so with the Ukrainians. Their colorful costumes, the music and dances, the food favorites have all survived in Canada as they did in the homeland, through wars and oppression. Their sense of tradition is strong, a century and many generations after their ancestors stepped off the train in a raw new land.

Over the years, many Ukrainians married people of other ethnic backgrounds, but took with them their traditions and kept them alive. Because of their steadfast devotion, all these years later, we can all share the enjoyment of a taste of the Ukraine, in all its glory.

Way Back When

Breaking ground, shoveling snow

Headlines from the files of the Elk Point Review and Lakeland Review for the week of January 18 in....

1985

The Energy Resources Conservation Board took a first-hand look at the proposed site of Amoco Canada's pilot project southeast of Elk Point, with Bernie Goruk explaining the proposed layout. Town Council discussed three water treatment plant upgrading proposals, ranging in cost to over $2 million.

1990

Elk Point Ukrainian Dance Club members were put through their paces by instructors Debbie Kachmar and Ken Rylance in a festive celebration following a traditional Ukrainian Christmas Eve supper. Building permits were few and far between in 1989, development officer Pat Vincent told Town Council, hoping for better things to come in the new year.

1995

Heinsburg was completely snowed in as forecasted snow flurries totaled up to 18 inches of the white stuff, while Elk Point received only two to three inches. F. G. Miller High School's education support council explored new roles as the Department of Education gave parents more control over their children's education.

2000

Town Council studied and updated traffic bylaw, with new routes and parking for big trucks planned. Community Advisory Policing Committee founder Jim MacLellan was presented with gifts of appreciation as he retired from the committee. The OORP honored Rose Kozicky, Anne Buck, Rose Pankow and Pearl Anderson, all who had passed their 90th birthdays but were still active in the lodge.

The Elk Point Review publishes a variety of opinions as a contribution to debate on matters of public concern. Unsigned editorials express the view of this newspaper's editorial board which includes the Publisher and the Editor. Signed pieces express the view of the individual writer.

Community incentive, community solutions

deanna EASTHOPE
from the FCSS desk

The government has announced the Community Incentive Fund for the Prevention of Violence and Bullying. We have until January 31 to send in a letter of intent and until March 20 to send in the actual proposal. The Prevention of Violence and Bullying Community Incentive Fund has been developed to support local action on the long term vision identified in the Alberta Roundtable on Family Violence and Bullying report, entitled "Finding Solutions Together." Funds will be approved based on demographics and need in each Child and Family Services authority regional boundary and in First Nations communities. There are two types of grant funding available: up to $10,000 and up to $75,000. Funding up to $10,000 must have a minimum of two community partners and may include a business partner. We are a small community and we could probably apply for the $10,000 grant.

First of all, we as a community have to believe that in our community we have some family violence that takes place. Secondly, we as a community have to believe this problem matters. Then thirdly, we as people in our community have to believe we can make a difference if we address the problem. After all, if the community cares, anything can be accomplished. And, if people believe they can make a difference, they will get involved. We know this to be true as we have seen the people in our community of Elk Point rise up to support many addressed needs.

Family violence is something not easily talked about. There are many myths about family violence. One myth is that alcohol and/or drugs cause adults to assault their partners. The fact is, alcohol and/or drugs are often used as an excuse by the abuser in order not to be held responsible for violence.

Another myth is that adults who assault only their partners are mentally ill. The fact is that adults who assault their partners confine their violence to the privacy of their own homes. They often hit their partners on parts of their bodies where bruises will not be noticed by others. They do this to keep the violence a secret from extended family and friends.

Another myth is that family violence occurs more often among certain groups of people. The fact is that family violence occurs in all ethnic, racial, economic, social and age groups. In affluent homes, violence is often hidden because these adults tend to use shelters, legal clinics and social services less often.

Another myth is that adults who are assaulted within their home by their partners provoke the violence. Therefore, they deserve to be hit. The fact is that no person deserves to be hit. Abusers use provocation as an excuse for the choices they make in resolving conflicts within the family.

There are many more myths, but I will mention one more myth. This myth claims that adults who continue to live with abusive partners are not bothered by the violence or they would speak up and leave their homes. The fact is that adults who are assaulted by their partner within their homes often continue to live with violence out of fear for their own safety and the safety of their children. The honeymoon phase (the giving of gifts and promises not to do it again) in the cycle of violence keeps alive the hope that their relationship will improve.

If you as a person in our community would like to become involved in working together to find solutions to the family violence problem with some families in our community, give Deanna a call at the FCSS office at 724-3800.

"If the community cares, anything can be accomplished. And, if people believe they can make a difference, they will get involved."

French Exchange countdown on

By Nicole Labrie
F. G. Miller High School

The countdown is on! Only three more weeks until the exchange group from Pont Rouge, Quebec arrives! Everyone is eagerly anticipating their arrival. At our last French Exchange meeting, which was January 5, 2005, we received a video of our partners and got information on them. We also discussed our activities and fundraising.

We finally confirmed our activities for the week. On February 6, the Quebec students arrive in the evening. We will welcome them and have pizza in the common area at our school. On February 7, there will be an assembly in the gym in the morning and a trip to Mrs. Ference's bison farm in the afternoon. After we get back, we will go curling.

On February 8, we leave for Edmonton fairly early in the morning. We will be going on tours of the Legislature building and the Muttart Gardens. In the afternoon, we go to West Edmonton Mall. On February 9, we do some activities in the Home Ec room and leave for Banff in the afternoon. We go skiing in Banff on February 10 and come home that same day.

On February 11, we get to sleep in a little, and then we are off to the Cold Lake air base, where we get to sit in a jet. In the afternoon, we head over to CNRL for a tour. In the evening, we will have a potluck dinner. On Saturday, February 12, we have to get up insanely early to see our friends off to the airport.

We had a bottle drive on Saturday, January 8, to fundraise. We appreciate all of the people who gave us their empty cans and bottles. In other fundraising news, pizza sales are going very well, and our parents have supported us by volunteering to pick up the pizzas.

A number of businesses, including Red Fox Safety, ATB Financial, Sears, Servus Credit Union, Rems Welding, Home Hardware, the Town Office, Lakeland Real Estate, Dr. Ma at the Dentist's office, the Elk Point RCMP Detachment, Hair Ethics by Roberta, Kelly's Closet and Wozniak Bulk Fuel Sales Inc., have generously donated souvenirs for our welcome packages.

Just a reminder to all French Club members: our next meeting is on January 26 at 7 p.m. in Mme. Pentek's room. It is important that parents and students attend this meeting, as it is the last meeting we'll have before the Quebec Exchange group arrives.
